

QA Engineer

Responsibilities:

- Performs manual, cross-browser testing based on test cases and /or input files reference files;
- Perform test planning/checklists creation activities;
- Status reporting: systematically report status, progress and concerns in a proactive, consistent and accurate manner to all the Team;
- Plan and execute functional, GUI, localization, regression testing, to prove system functionality, verify business and user requirements are met;
- Defect reporting: report and re-test defects according to generally accepted best practices and internal policies; Ensure key issues detected are appropriately documented, flagged, communicated and handed over to the appropriate function to resolve in a timely manner;
- Agility: working as a member of a self-organized agile team to gain necessary input and ensure accurate and complete testing activities within each area and task;
- Collaboration: communicate with colleagues within and outside of the team in a clear, concise manner; make your effective contribution to cross-team processes and solutions.

Requirements:

- Wide knowledge of testing methodologies and experience with different testing types (both functional and non-functional);
- At least one (1) year of experience in testing web applications;
- Strong knowledge of software testing processes with QA reporting mechanisms;
- At least intermediate level of spoken and written English;
- Ability to create and execute highly detailed test plans and test cases, using project requirements as a guide but thinking above and beyond the provided scope;
- Deep understanding of Development Lifecycle;
- Proactivity and high level of self-motivation.

We Offer:

- Strong professional team;
- The best technologies for successful work;
- Interesting projects for world famous brands;
- Spacious office near the metro and comfortable workplaces;
- Paid participation in seminars, trainings and conferences;
- Flexible work schedule;
- Paid sick days and vacations;
- Cars and bicycle parking;
- Corporate events, team building;
- Bonuses for important life events.